

AirVenture 2024 Forum - Powering Up Vertical Aviation with Superior ADM

How would we rate our aeronautical decision-making (ADM) skills and application on every flight? Do we consistently behave like an uncompromising professional? Do we seek continuous improvement? Do we obsessively flight plan, prepare for the worst, and react with the poise of a stoic when things go wrong? We'll address these questions and offer proven solutions to help with your ADM knowledge, skills, and abilities. We'll review the panels' favorite planning tools and personal check lists they employ before each flight. The panel will then offer their own tactics, tips, and techniques on how to avoid, recognize, and respond to the most common traps even the most experienced pilots often fall prey to in our challenging, rewarding, and unforgiving world we proudly call vertical aviation.
