FAA Office of Communication presents:

From the Flight Deck LIVE- A Preflight Planning Workshop

During this event, pilots and industry experts will explore the multifaceted nature of pre-flight preparation, focusing on the transition from "gathering information" to "analyzing risk".

Using expert panel insights and real-world data, the discussion will highlight best practices for evaluating weather, aircraft performance, and personal minimums. Attendees will have the opportunity for Q&A with the panel. Discussions will include:

- The Environment – Weather, Airspace, and Destination Planning
- The Machine – Mastering Performance and Limitations
- The Human Element – Risk Management and the Go/No-Go Decision
