

The Don Young Alaska Aviation Safety Initiative (Saturday May 2nd)

The Don Young Alaska Aviation Safety Initiative aims to reduce accidents and improve aviation safety in Alaska. Over the next few years, upgrades and expansion of aviation infrastructure is planned across Alaska. The FAA is working with Alaska industry partners to evaluate needs and propose solutions. This presentation will provide an introduction to the initiative, and an overview of the improvements planned to start as early as this summer.

This event is located on the Alaska State Fairgrounds, Palmer AK. This seminar is located in the Hoskins Exhibits Hall, marked as building #17 on the attached fairgrounds map. It is a light green building with white trim.

This seminar is scheduled for 1200 - 1250 and will earn attendees 1 hr of Advanced Risk Management WINGS credit.
