There are a lot of reasons for aircraft accidents and stupidity isn't usually one of them. Running out of fuel however, is almost stupid. About 3 aircraft a week are involved in fuel related mishaps. Some run out of fuel, and some go down because the pilot couldn't get fuel that was in the tanks, to the engine. This seminar will review ways to prevent those things from happening to you. This program qualifies for 1 elective credit for the Master Phase of the WINGS- Pilot Proficiency Program.

Directions: Presentation will be in the main terminal.

Message from the National Safety Program Manager:
