

The Schiff Show - Think Right For A Safer Flight

Flying safely begins with thinking smartly. In this gripping episode of THE SCHIFF SHOW, renowned aviator Captain Brian Schiff is joined by respected instructor Aaron Dabney for a deep dive into the human side of aviation safety.

Together, they'll unpack a real-world tragedy: a flight that ended in disaster not because of weather, equipment, or mechanical failure—but because of mindset. You'll learn how an instructor's poor judgment led to fatal consequences, and how a student pilot's deference became deadly.

This episode will challenge your assumptions and sharpen your decision-making.

Registration is not required. After viewing the program, WINGS Credit is earned immediately upon successful completion of a short quiz. The link to that quiz is on the page noted below.
