Takeoffs, approaches, and landing have generated many hours of hangar flying, opinions, and stories of how to conduct each of these operations. Learn some of the many variables and methodologies for making each of these operations as safe and predictable as possible. An overview of the new WINGS program will also be presented. If not already registered on FAASafety.gov, please do so in order to receive future notification of aviation safety events via email.

Directions: Garrett Strong Building, Room Number 2550, located on the northeast corner of the Northwest Missouri State University campus. Parking located at rear of building.
