

FAA Safety Team presents:

Maintenance Records From the Pilots Perspective (Webinar)

Every pilot, whether the owner or an operator, is responsible to determine that the aircraft is airworthy before flight, this includes the maintenance logs being accurate and complete. This webinar presented by our guest speaker Craig Johnston, will provide an overview of regulations and some best practices concerning Aircraft Maintenance Record Keeping. He will discuss questions such as: Who is responsible for maintenance records? Why are good maintenance records important? What records must be kept for owner performed preventive maintenance? These questions and many more will be discussed, so get a cup of coffee , make yourself comfortable and join this webinar.
