

FAA National Capital Region

This is one of the four seminars available to attend at the Maryland Regional Festival of Flight.

There has been an increase in the last year in violations of the DC SFRA, the majority of these are from local pilots. That makes this a good time to look at some of these incidents from the viewpoint of the people who actually keep watch over the airspace. Learn what the people who maintain the lookout over Washington DC can teach us about avoiding DC SFRA violations.

Directions: To drive in, follow the map directions to the AOPA Headquarters building at the north end of the airport. Park in the lot behind the building and enter through the rear door. Signs will be posted for guidance.

If you fly in, land at KFDK and tell ground control you want to taxi to parking for the MDRFF.
