FSDO EA07 presents:

EAA Chapter 524 Monthly IMC Club Meeting

The EAA IMC Club provides a "hangar flying" experience organized around instrument flight, in order to promote safety, education, and proficiency.

The meeting will consist of a scenario presentation, "Slow Flow″, and group discussions about unusual or interesting charts, incidents, accidents, changed rules or procedures, and member experiences.

The scenario(s) we will discuss at this meeting is: managing risk and decision making while flying in Instrument Meteorological Conditions.

Bring your EFB, your experience, and your questions, and be ready to participate.

All are welcome. You do not need to be an EAA member or instrument rated pilot to attend

We will also be discussing how you can earn WINGS Credit.

Question of the Month:

When flying IFR and under radar control, what changes and conditions must pilots report to ATC?

This meeting will be at least 90 minutes in duration

This EAA IMC Club meeting will be held at the Frederick Maryland EAA Chapter 524 Aviation Education Center. The Aviation Education Center is located at the Frederick Municipal Airport, 111 Airport Drive East, Frederick MD 21701. As you enter the airport, park in the Terminal Parking lot. Walk south past the Frederick Flight Center (flight school building). There are signs on the end of the second row of hangars for the Chapter.
