

Are You Ready For SMS Compliance

We've heard about SMS for several years now. How's your journey working out for you? Whether you're still preparing for the May 2027 compliance declaration deadline or looking to strengthen an existing program, this moderated session shares proven implementation strategies, common pitfalls, and lessons learned from organizations that have already made the journey. If you're not quite ready, this session could make a big difference. If you think you're ready, consider offering tips to help others our shared airspace a bit safer.
