FAR 65.91 Active Engagement

NOTE: The IA must continue to meet the requirements as state in FAR 65.91.

Refresher training attendance "alone" does not satisfy the requirements for IA renewal.

- Actively Engaged: Actively engaged means having an active role in exercising the privileges of an A&P mechanic certificate in the maintenance of civil aircraft. Applicants who inspect, overhaul, repair, preserve, or replace parts on aircraft, or who supervise (i.e. direct and inspect) those activities, are actively engaged. An ASI may use evidence or documentation provided by the applicant showing inspection, overhaul, repair, preservation, or replacement of parts on aircraft or supervision of these activities.
- Maintenance Records: This evidence or documentation, when required, could include records showing performance or supervision of aircraft maintenance, return to service (RTS) documents, and/or copies of maintenance record entries to determine the type of maintenance activity performed, considering any expertise required. The quantity of the maintenance activity demonstrates if the applicant was actively engaged.
- Teaching or Instructing: Individuals employed in teaching or instructing solely in an academic environment are generally not considered actively engaged. Aviation Maintenance Technician School (AMTS), when also engaging in maintenance of certificated or maintained in accordance with 14 CFR can be considered actively engaged.
