

FAASTeam presents:

Too Cold for Comfort: Preparing for Winter Operations

Sugar Valley Airport (SVA) is a virtual "Airport Garden of Eden". It's a premier fall destination to which to fly or drive. FAASTeam volunteers and the SVA folks will make your visit memorable and enjoyable. Tour the scenic grounds. Attend an informative FAASTeam aviation seminar and learn what aircraft preparations you can make before cold weather arrives. Can flying through a snow shower be hazardous? You will hear about special preflight planning, en route considerations, using weather forecasts wisely, windy-wet-icy conditions, winter taxiing, aircraft servicing, static electricity hazards, and more. The time of 'first frost' is upon us, and cold weather is not far behind! Door prizes, refreshments, and fun for all. Seating is limited. Register below TODAY.

Directions: From I 40, take Exit 174, Farmington Road. Proceed North on Farmington Road for 2 miles. Turn right on Pinbrook Road, which becomes Gilbert Road and ends at the Sugar Valley Airport. Look for FAA Seminar signs.

A message from the National FAASTeam Manager
