

FAA Safety Team presents:

Dronepro Forum The Grey Areas of Unmanned Aircraft Systems

UAS Federal State Local Laws

On June 21, 2016, the Department of Transportation's Federal Aviation Administration finalized the first operational rules for routine commercial use of small unmanned aircraft systems (UAS or "drones"), opening pathways towards fully integrating UAS into the nation's airspace. The new rule, which took effect on August 29, 2016 60 days after it is posted to the Federal Register, offers safety regulations for unmanned aircraft drones weighing less than 55 pounds that are conducting non-hobbyist operations. Attend this informative briefing to learn about this new rule and to discuss local UAS issues. See the Zoom link and register TODAY.

This event is also being offered as a In person seminar in Louisburg, NC. See SPANS announcement
