

The National Weather Service Chicago in partnership with the Lewis University Aviation Department presents its 2nd Annual Aviation Weather Workshop

When: Sat, Feb. 26, 2011

Where: Lewis University, Romeoville, IL, Harold E. White Aviation Center

Why: To serve partners and customers within the general and commercial aviation industry, discuss services and requirements to foster safe and enhanced air travel within the National Air Space System.

Overview

- NWS & Aviation Weather Center Products/Services
- Radar & Satellite Imagery Interpretation
- Forecasting Aircraft Icing
- Atmospheric Stability
- Aviation Training
- Joint Forum on Best Practices

Registration at:

<http://www.crh.noaa.gov/lot>

Special thanks to Lewis University Aviation Department for providing conference room facilities.