

FREE Proficient Pilot Seminar - Human Factors

Threats are an inherent part of life, and that definitely includes flying. However, with proper training, these threats can be managed to help avoid those errors that can eventually lead to accidents. I've met with Captain Knight, and believe me, your attention will be kept!!! He has plenty of stories, training tools, statistics, and scenarios that will be applicable to all of us. Please come and learn more about how to successfully manage threats and reduce the human error that is so commonly the cause (or at least a contributing factor) to most aircraft accidents. Oh, and enjoy some pizza while you're here!

Directions: This free safety seminar will be hosted by Sweet Aviation inside the terminal building at the Smith Field Airport in Fort Wayne, Indiana.
