

Wisconsin FAAS Team presents:

Winter Fly-In Lunch Social and Survival Techniques

Come to Green Bay for a winter fly-in/drive-in to enjoy training, food and warm camaraderie. Dr. Pierce Sherrill will present 'Survival Techniques during a GA Accident' at 10:00 am, followed with food service from 11:00 – 13:00. There is a cost associated with lunch for further information please call Karen Kalishek, of pilotsmith at (920)819-4774.

Dr. Sherrill's presentation will provide information on many aspects of post-aircraft accident survival; techniques, tools, the proper sequence of activities during the first 5 minutes and 5 hours, survival training opportunities, and recognizing everyone's most important survival asset. A factory fresh Cessna 182 with glass panel will be on static display courtesy of the Civil Air Patrol Brown County Senior Squadron (BCSS). BCSS members will provide tours of the aircraft, including hands-on demonstration of the G1000 avionics.

Directions: The meeting will be held at Jet Air FBO. Drive-ins should park in the main parking lot and enter the building under the awning. Signs will direct you to the hangar where the event is held.
