

Anticipating Thunderstorms and Severe Weather - Burger and Ice Cream Social

Event Details

The National Weather Service predicts and issues weather warnings every day. Learn how the NWS creates these predictions and how you can apply this knowledge as a pilot to make your weather decisions safer.

This event begins with a social at 5pm where burgers and ice cream. Talk with experienced season pilots, student pilots, and the Pilotsmith instructional staff in a fun laid back setting. At 6pm we will begin our presentation.
