We will start by sharing a video that sets-up our scenario, "Colorado Clearance Confusion" (Topic: There's nothing ambiguous about an approach clearance—or is there? Can a wily instructor you employed for an Instrument Proficiency Check trip you into self-doubt with one, well-timed question? Then again, maybe the CFII is just as unsure as you are—and both of you are flying blind. Analyze the situation and compare your AMD with the video analysis.)

We will be discussing different course of action through input all of the attendees. Through our discussion you will learn that scenarios can be handled differently. These discussions will definitely give you different perspectives from the other attendees you will walk away with a better understanding of flying in Instrument Meteorological Conditions.

Follow signs to Dane County Regional Airport. Wisconsin Aviation is located at 3606 Corbin Ct. We will meet in the Main Conference Room.
