

Pro Tips for CFIs Beyond Stick and Rudder

What Pilot wouldn't want to maximize their performance in the cockpit? If you want to learn how the professionals do it then you need to join Tammy for this webinar.

She will discuss the following with us:

- Why training technical skill alone leaves performance capability on the table
- What mental performance training is and how pilots use it to improve execution
- How confidence, focus, and composure can be trained like any other skill
- Practical strategies to maximize performance and reduce performance-related stress

This content is skill-based and performance-focused. It is not clinical or therapeutic in nature.
