

Annual 99 Meeting

This is Private event not open to the public!

Kenin Wagner from the National Weather Service will be leading this informational seminar. You will be able to ask questions to be answered by an expert in the field on the ALL Important Weather Briefing to keep you safe while flying your aircraft. This is an introduction to the National Weather Service products and services for the public and aviation community.

Participants will learn about weather forecast challenges, especially in Wisconsin. The presentation will also cover radar interpretation and where to find the latest observations and forecasts.

Conference Room at the Morey Airplane Company, Middleton, WI.
