

You're Flying Over a Very Noise Sensitive Area

We often see signs and posters at airports telling us to "Fly Quietly", we know it is important to keep peace with our airport neighbors, but what are pilots supposed to do about it? This session will examine the airplane noise situation at various metro airports, and provide ideas for pilots on how to minimize their impact. This is an open forum presentation with Dan MacDonald, CFI/MEI/AGI, owner of Alpha Zulu (flight school and aircraft rental at Fleming Field), manager at a major international airport, and author of the popular book "Owner Assisted Aircraft Maintenance". Dan presents with an engaging style at aviation events around the region, including Oshkosh. Free treats and hangar flying.
