

“You’ve got What?!”
Flying (or not) With a
Temporary or Chronic Illness

Jim Lakin, PhD, MD

CFII, MEI

Airline Transport Pilot

FAA Senior Aviation Medical Examiner

Author, “Aeromedical Forum”, Minnesota Flyer

We all get an ache or pain, a cold or a cramp every now and then. But when should we be telling tales in the FBO rather than boring holes through the sky? Dr. Jim Lakin will address some of these questions as they relate to the safety of flight. What happens if a significant illness strikes? Dr. Jim will explain how to work with the FAA to get back into the cockpit!
