

The Ag Drone Podcast - 2026 Spray Season Series

Insurance is one of the biggest challenges (and often one of the most misunderstood parts) of running a professional UAS Part 137 aerial application operation. From hull coverage and drift claims to liability, chemical application risks, and scaling your business — getting this right protects your equipment, your livelihood, and your customers. This session delivers practical, real-world guidance tailored specifically for ag drone operators.

Clear breakdown of drone hull insurance — pros, cons, and what's actually covered (including spare parts) • Drift claims and chemical application liability — what operators need to know • How to choose the right insurance as you grow your fleet or operate across states • Actionable tips on making insurance part of your business planning from day one • Real-world insights from someone who understands both manned ag aviation and the fast-growing UAS spray sector.
