

Becoming a Peak Performance Pilot

How can you perform at the highest level on every flight? By examining how to fully prepare for an FAA checkride, we can also learn habit patterns that will make us peak performing pilots in our day to day flying.

For pilots of any skill level and certification and especially for flight instructors. Come meet the FAA, industry leaders, and local designated pilot examiners.

Directions: Fly in or drive in. This program is part of the FAA Pilot Proficiency Award Program. A program designed to encourage pilots to participate in on-going training to enhance general aviation safety.
