

EAA Chapter 770 IMC Club and Instrument Refresher

Please join us Thursday evening, November 13th at 6:30pm for EAA Chapter 770's inaugural IMC club meeting. All are welcome whether you are an instrument rated pilot or not.

This program will be the first session of a series offering a review of instrument flight knowledge. It is intended as a refresher for those who are already rated, an introduction to instrument flight for prospective instrument students, and additional safety knowledge for student and private pilots. All are welcome.

We will be using Rod Machado's Instrument Flying Handbook as the source for the slides in this program. You do not need to own the book, but it is widely available as an ebook or hard copy should you choose to procure it. We will also be referencing the current edition of the FAR/AIM, FAA instrument Procedures Handbook, and FAA Instrument Flying Handbook.
