

Forced Landing-Now What?

Survival after a forced landing depends on many factors and comes down to preparation. Will you be in a populated area? How long will it take search and rescue to find you? Do you have an updated ELT, food, water, cell service, and adequate shelter? Are you dressed for the weather along your route?

Join our speaker to discuss post-landing survival and how proper planning can be the difference between life and death and ensure the best possible outcome.

Meeting is in large FBO Hanger #3
