

If It's Not Fun, You're Doing it Wrong!

After three and a half decades of flying big and little airplanes, veteran pilot and CFI JJ Greenway was itching for a new adventure. On a whim, he flew his two seat taildragger solo from coast to coast this past summer. Come along with him on the trip, he'll share some stories, introduce you to some interesting people, show you some beautiful sights and you'll fall in love with flying all over again. From Washington D.C. to Seattle and back, a two week adventure that, admit it, you'd do it yourself if you had the time!

Directions: Keynote Area.
