

Sport Flying – An Alternative Pathway Into the Sky

We will be taking a peak into this relatively new pathway to the sky intended to satisfy the urge to fly just for the sheer joy of it with reduced cost and time. The FAA's Sport Rule can be used by those who have never flown to gain independence sooner and by existing pilots who have been away to reenter flying more easily. We will look at Light Sport Aircraft (LSA) and pilot certification, privileges and limitations.
