

Mountain Flying at Flaming Gorge

Join us at Flaming Gorge Resort for a morning of mountain flying insights designed for pilots who love high country airstrips—or want to. This seminar-style session (10:00–11:30 AM) covers real-world techniques for density altitude, terrain, and weather challenges. Afterwards, stick around for hangar talk and lunch (food available for purchase at the resort).

We're encouraging pilots to fly into Dutch John Airport (33U) for the event—field elevation 6,561'—and take our complimentary shuttle to the resort. FAA WINGS credit available.

Please register by Clicking Here below so we can keep you in the loop if weather forces a last-minute cancellation.

Flying in? Set your sights on Dutch John Airport (33U). Field elevation 6,561', runway 11/29, 6,000' of asphalt, and mountain scenery that will make you grin. We'll have a shuttle ready to zip you up the road to Flaming Gorge Resort—no hiking boots required.
