

The Mid-Atlantic Aviation Coalition Presents the

19th Annual New Jersey Aviation Conference

A Special Two-Day Event on May 2 & 3, 2014

“Seize the Day – Build for Tomorrow” Symposium

Friday, May 2, 2014

Carl A. Fields Center for Equality + Cultural Understanding Princeton University, Princeton, NJ

This year’s symposium brings together prominent representatives and experts from all areas of aviation to offer their perspectives on important issues facing pilots, airport owners, and others involved in New Jersey aviation.

The agenda includes a Question & Answer session with DOT Commissioner Jim Simpson. Himself a pilot, Commissioner Simpson brings a pilot's perspective to transportation issues. Four panels of experts will discuss the following areas of concern to aviation stakeholders as well: Education, Policy, Safety, and Technology.

The Art and Science of Flying Ground School

A Vision Quest for Peak Performance with Master Instructor Rich Stowell

Saturday May 3, 2014

Alexandria Field Airport (N85), Pittstown, NJ

Aerodynamics is omnipresent in our lives: it exerts its influence over our sports, our modes of transportation, the buildings we occupy, even our speech. When we embrace aerodynamic principles and employ them with confidence, a remarkable convergence of science and artistry often results.

Bring a learner’s mindset; wrap yourself in curiosity; and be prepared to engage in a dynamic discussion that weaves history, biology, and technology into a high-level exploration of the wonder of flight in general, and of airplane and human performance in particular.
