

Are You Ready To Land Off Airport? 4-Day Wilderness Medicine and Survival Seminar for Aviators

Event Details

This is a hands on course. Don't expect a power point. Expect to walk away with Wilderness First Aid and hemorrhage control certifications. Expect to gain knowledge in survival tactics to help you and your passengers in the event you make an off airport landing. This 4-day seminar is a small event tailored to give focused instruction to backcountry aviators and aircrew. Over 24 hours of in depth instruction with maximum class size of 15. Meals included. Participants must be fit enough to hike short distances. Primitive camping is available at the airstrip. More information can be found on adventuremedicineexperts.com

Participants can fly into Root Ranch airstrip Thursday morning only if proficient with mountain flying techniques. Alternatively, contact course directors for information on charter services.
