Aviation Safety Day In Myrtle Beach, SC, USA!

The Aviation Consulting Group is proud to proclaim July 29, 2011 as Aviation Safety Day in Myrtle Beach, SC! We have combined two related and highly relevant courses into one day of training in a beautiful resort location! In the morning, attendees will learn about soon-to-be-mandated Safety Management Systems with our popular SMS Overview course. After a one hour lunch break (lunch is included) attendees will learn all about safety culture and how it affects their organization and, consequently, their individual actions. This course is held on a Friday, at a popular beach destination, so we encourage attendees to bring the family and make a long weekend out of it! Here are more details about the course:
