

Orlando FSDO FAASTeam presents:

Human Factors in Aviation Maintenance for MECHANICS and PILOTS

Do you have the knowledge, the technical data, the experience, the tools, the mindset and much more BEFORE you begin the task at hand?

Did you perform the task to the best of your abilities, to specification, to the rule of law; did you reinspect what you did and much more AFTER you performed the task?

Our speaker, Tony Alfaya, using decades of experience will help MECHANICS and PILOTS better understand the variety of human factors related to aircraft maintenance and how to best incorporate a practical personal minimums checklist in day to day operations.

When MECHANICS and PILOTS understand their respective roles in the process, safety ensues! This event is designed to be an interactive audience experience. PLEASE bring your questions and participate in the discussion!
