

Orlando FSDO FAAST Team presents:

The Flight Review - A New Look at an Old Requirement

“Flight Review - A New Look @ an Old Requirement”

Our presenter will identify the specific requirements for a pilot and instructor to follow during a flight review, describe how best to interact & plan for specific knowledge & flight activities, and discuss how to debrief after the flight review. He will also describe several resources available to pilots and instructors for their use in planning their next Flight Review.

And of course, the FAA WINGS pilot proficiency program will be highlighted.

Come join the discussion with your fellow aviators for a review of the flight review. This seminar will offer you one Knowledge Credit for your WINGS phase and will serve as the monthly IMC Club meeting. Your knowledge & experience is valuable to your fellow airmen/women; please participate and share your knowledge so we all become safer aviators.
