

FAASTeam And FSDO 019 presents:

What is Wrong with My Engine - Seminar for Pilots and Mechanics

A two hour seminar which includes discussion topics on the operation of normally aspirated and fuel injected engines – 4 & 6 cylinder horizontally opposed air cooled aircraft engines. Hot starting techniques, warm and cold weather operations will be also discussed.

Maintenance considerations for the owner, including spark plug selection, magneto, ignition wire and ignition switch maintenance intervals, induction filters, engine oil selection, engine oil change frequency, engine oil analysis benefits, cylinder compression tests, cylinder valve train inspections, battery and electrical starting systems, fuel and oil hose selection and service intervals will all be discussed.

Fuel injection system maintenance and operation. Carburetor maintenance and operation. Fuel priming systems and priming safety. How to avoid induction flooding and potential induction fires during starting operations.

How to make your engine(s) run to the manufacturer's recommended TBO limits without excessive expense. Short and long term storage of your engine during down time intervals.

And last but not least: Lean of Peak versus Rich of Peak engine operations. The good, the bad and the ugly truths.
