

FAASTeam presents:

Big Picture Weather Planning for summertime Flying

Big Picture Weather Planning for Summertime Flying brought to you by SiriusXM Aviation and the Ninety-Nines.

Planning for a flight starts days in advance of the flight with the big weather picture, join CFI, former NWS research meteorologist, and founder of EZWxBrief, Dr. Scott Dennstaedt, as he shares his expertise on how to monitor and plan for the weather in the days leading up to your summertime flight.

Additional Topics will include

- Forecasting the potential for deep, moist convection
- Maximizing the use of prog charts
- Think convection, not thunderstorms
