

How Do You Feel Today

Pilots operate in arduous environments that often create occupational, personal, physical, and mental health issues. It is well documented that pilots are averse to reporting medical and mental health issues to their AME, and subsequently avoid seeking care. With this in mind, this discussion will cover topics that include the recent 2024 FAA Aviation Rulemaking Committee (ARC) on Pilot Mental Health, barriers to self-reporting, and the need to improve mental health literacy while reducing stigma in the aviation community.

If you are on I-95, then exit on Pembroke Pines Blvd. From the WEST, then turn left into Broward College, left into the college, go around all the parking lots till the LAST building Number 66. Come on in.
