Tampa FAASTeam presents:

Risk and Resource Management

Preparing for an airline career requires more than technical flying skills; it demands effective risk management, sound decision-making, and teamwork. This interactive aviation safety seminar is designed for Flight Fast Track pilots transitioning into professional airline operations. Participants will explore Risk Management requirements outlined in the Airman Certification Standards (ACS) and their application to Crew Resource Management (CRM), Threat and Error Management (TEM), and effective cockpit communication. Through real-world scenarios and engaging discussions, attendees will examine standardized communication, pilot briefings, situational awareness, and proactive threat mitigation. Join us to strengthen the decision-making and resource management skills essential for safe airline operations.
