

Southwest Region FAAS Team presents:

AMS Short Course on Aviation Weather – A User and Provider Perspective

Event Details

Sun, Jan 6, 2013 - 1:00 pm

Austin Convention Center

500 East Cesar Chavez Street

Austin, TX 78701

Contact: CAPT Barry Choy

(301) 683-1324

barry.choy@noaa.gov

Select #: SW0045558

RFM STEVEN ANTHONY BUCKNER

This course will provide the participants an opportunity to gain both a pilot's and meteorologist's perspective about operational aviation weather decision making during all phases of flight to include pre-flight, ground operations, enroute and landing.

The course format consists of four, 45-minute segments with presentations, lectures and discussion followed by a 30 minute case study and practical exercise.

The total time will be four hours.

Preliminary programs, registration, hotel, and general information will be posted on the AMS Web site www.ametsoc.org or <http://www.ametsoc.org/> in mid-September 2012.

Directions: From I35, take the 1st right onto E 1st St/Cesar Chavez St E/TX-343-LOOP.

A message from the National FAASafety Team Manager

Over 10,150 AMTs earned an AMT Award last year. Will you, this year?

Sign up for the FAA's safety services at www.FAASafety.gov!