

FAASTeam presents:

IMC Club of EAA 302 - Effective Communication

Your words take on extra-special importance when trying to communicate when flying. Who you are. Where you are. What you want.

Simple? or is it? In-depth scenario-based discussion will highlight the need for accuracy and brevity when talking to ATC, but also the importance of making correct and acceptable announcements in the vicinity of your local non-towered airport.

Nick Frisch from Professional Instrument Course (PIC) is attending as one of the guest CFIs for the meeting.

Nick comes to us from Seattle, Washington on assignment from PIC for one of our fellow club members. Prior to Nick working at PIC, he worked many years as Chief Pilot and instructor for all the models of KingAirs, Barons, Bonanzas etc. and just prior to PIC, Nick worked for Glasair as an instructor and leader of safety courses for the Glasair Models. This should bring us perspective for the high performance Home Built enthusiast....

Second special guest Dustin Newell learned to fly at the Conroe Airport and has been with the FAA for 20 years. He has worked Houston Center since 2008 both in the Tower and ATC. His love for aviation started when he was a youngster and carried him to a several years in the Navy as a
