

FAASTeam presents:

2023 FAASTeam Aviation Safety Stand Down at Searcy Arkansas

The "safety stand down" is a long-standing tradition in the aviation community, first put into place in large scale by the US Air Force in the 1970's. After a major accident, incident, or series of incidents, the unit involved, or the operators of similar aircraft, would stand down, ceasing operations until a cause could be identified. This tradition remains an important safety tool even now, and has spread to many civilian operations, commercial and private. Thankfully, aviation safety in the US has improved significantly, and the safety stand down has found application in many areas as a planned event. Thus the FAASTeam effort and strategy is to review significant topics on General Aviation safety, and intentionally review these areas with an intent to improve aviator proficiency and attention to safety.

Directions: Just-Plane-Fun Hangar 8SE is the Fifth Hangar South of Main Terminal. Parking available on ramp side and in front.
