

Rotorcraft Directorate ASW-100 presents:

2016 International Rotorcraft Safety Conference

The CARP effort signified a commitment to improving international communication, collaboration and cooperation when it was announced at last year's conference by the Federal Aviation Administration (USA), the European Aviation Safety Agency (Europe), and Transport Canada Civil Aviation (Canada). The National Civil Aviation Agency (Brazil), although not present at last year's conference, is also a CARP member. The CARP has since been working to make validating rotorcraft products more efficient and to support the authorities' safety missions. CARP representatives will provide updates about what has been accomplished to date.
