

In the Heat of the Moment Can You Make the Correct Decision?

Engine Monitors are useful things to have in the airplane. But what will you do when you discover "things are heating up" unexpectedly on a flight you really wanted to complete. Do you press on? Do you divert?

Join us as we review just such a scenario where our engine monitor shows us something worrisome and we must decide an action to take before we get stuck out in the cold. We will discuss potential actions and review the best outcome.

Those interested in learning more about Fort Worth Flying Club are invited to our monthly business meeting that starts at 9:00 am.

From Loop 820 and North Main Street (Hwy 287): Proceed south on North Main Street so Meacham Airport is on your right. Continue past the entrance to Modern Aviation to the stoplight for Terminal Road. We are at the second entrance to your right past the stoplight, between Hodges Aviation and Rotocraft Services Group.

Park anywhere except in front of Rotorcraft Services Group.
