FAASTeam presents:

Aviation Weather

When the weather changes, the flight plan changes, and therefore so does the risk. Before the holiday season and travel plans are made, let us take a minute to brush up some ADM. This presentation acquaints the audience with the hazards associated with ever changing environments and provides suggestions for successful flight and ground operations in the wake of these changes. As a result the risk changes with the weather.

Event will held inside breakroom of Air Venture Flight School located at Olive Branch Airport.
