

FAASTeam presents:

Understanding the Federal Aviation Regulations (FARs) Parts 61, 91, and some 135!

FAA Inspector David Voelker will review important parts of the FARs and will explain them in a way that definitely amazes most pilots. David engages everyone and makes the FARs leap off the page! A wide variety of activities are regulated, such as airplane design, typical airline flights, pilot training activities, airworthiness, type ratings, scenic flying for hire, hot-air ballooning, lighter-than-air aircraft, man-made structure heights, obstruction lighting and marking.

"What you think you know, just might come back to bite you!" David Voelker has a unique ability to help us gain real insight into the regs. He will help you clarify just where additional study might pay off!

INSTRUCTORS who would like to benefit from some additional very professional insight, and pilots of every level are invited to attend.
