

AZ FAASTeam presents:

FAASTeam 2014 CopperState Fly-In Safety Seminar - CGZ
Airport--WINGS CREDIT

The GA ASIAs Demonstration project is an expansion of the volunteer commercial ASIAs (Aviation Safety Information Analysis and Sharing) program that originated with US air carriers, pilot associations, manufacturers, and the FAA designed to improve safety throughout the commercial sector (SEE AC No: 120-82 Link below). This expansion incorporates new voluntary GA data sources submitted by the community. This program will help improve safety by:

- You can replay your own flights and view your data to identify potential safety risks
- Historically, pilots participating in proactive safety programs are less likely to be involved in an accident (GAO 13-36, pg. 13)
- Flight data (such as attitude data) can be collected, giving you enhanced feedback to improve your skills
- Your data will be combined with all other contributors to help improve safety for whole GA community

You can participate in two ways. Data can come from either your onboard avionics (for example, a G1000) or using a newly developed mobile app—on your smartphone or tablet. At the Copper State Fly-In, you will have the opportunity to tryout the applications and sign up if you would like to use the tools, at no cost.

There will be fellow pilots and technical reps there to answer any questions. This Seminar runs
