

How Do I Know When I am Too Old to Fly?

Many of us have seen a pilot friend who we worry that they no longer have "the right stuff". Some of us are seeing in ourselves hints that aging may be catching up to us. There is definitely a time when we should turn in the keys, and enjoy telling stories instead of wondering if we are still safe. But, how do we know? This presentation will address the physiological aspects of aging and how they affect being a pilot, with ideas of how we will know when to stop flying as PIC.

EAA Chapter 14 is located at the East side of Brown Field (SDM) immediately to the East of the active control tower. Enter through Gate#4, turn left and follow the dirt road through the construction area past the tower to Chapter 14, we meet in the hangar closest to the runway. Call Chapter 14 from the access pedestal to open the gate, number is posted on the pedestal.

This seminar will be conducted in person at EAA Hangar 1 at Brown Field, and also broadcast on Zoom for those who cannot attend in person. To receive the Zoom code, sign up for the seminar and send an email to the program director at eaal4programs@gmail.com
