

An Opportunity of a Life Time, and one that may save your Life:

With so many Loss of Control (LOC) accidents in General Aviation of which 50% result in fatalities, we wanted to give you a chance to mediate statistic should you start to experience LOC. Thus; you have the opportunity to climb into the simulator (AATD) in the type of aircraft you routinely fly to get the feel of different flight profiles that may result in LOC, (Stalls on takeoff, icing, exceeding bank angle in a cross wind, lining up on final, etc.) You will receive 30 minutes in the simulator at a substantially reduced cost to allow you this experience. All you need to do is call Advanced Aviation Training at 775-853-4541, 360-713-8077 or 775-233-6517 to make an appointment for Saturday, March 24th, for your 30 minute slot. You can have more than one slot if demand allows. You are welcome to come early or stay late as you can watch others during their experience. Coffee, pastries and light sandwiches will be available at no charge. Don't miss this opportunity!!!!!!