

FAASTeam presents:

Top 10 Reasons Why People Fail Checkrides

The mere mention of the word "checkride" strikes fear in the hearts of many aspiring pilots. Heart rates increase, palms become sweaty, and it becomes difficult to form complete sentences. If only you knew what the examiner was looking for in addition to the Practical Test Standards! Here is your chance! Local FAA Designated Pilot Examiner Dave Morss has narrowed the list down to the top ten. He will present the list, along with tips for success, in this engaging and interactive safety seminar. Not only will you learn the top reasons why people fail, but you will also calm your fears and increase your own likelihood for success. This seminar is open to all pilots. Private Pilot and Instrument students will find it particularly helpful. Dave Morss is an FAA Designated Pilot Examiner and Airworthiness Representative. He started flying in 1968 and has since logged over 28,000 hours in over 300 types of aircraft. He is founder and president of Myriad Research and conducts flight tests on experimental aircraft of all types. An air racing veteran, Dave currently holds the record for the most races at the Reno National Air Races with 204 races in total. He holds thirteen world speed records, ten of which stand.
