

FAASTeam presents:

A History of the Flight Simulator

Join us on Wednesday evening, Nov 9 at 7:30pm in West Valley Flying Club's Palo Alto classroom for a presentation on the history of the Flight Simulator. Along with a history of the flight simulator, this presentation will describe the types of simulators now available, their capability, how they work, and their strengths and limitations. Additionally, it will discuss the type of training that can be accomplished and what time can be logged.

Our guest speaker Carl Suttle has been designing, engineering and managing flight simulator projects for past 35 years. So when he bought his own aircraft a few years ago the obvious thing to do was build a training device for it. He co-founded FlyThisSim in 2007 and since then designed and developed SimAVIO software, its instrumentation modelling system and interface to flight simulators. It took 4 years for him to write the code so that others can build simulated GPS driven flight decks like the Garmin 1000 without having to write code. He is passionate about the use of flight simulation in general aviation and will freely give his opinion even if you don't ask for it. He is instrument rated with 1000+ hrs in his Cirrus. Carl currently looks after sales, building the engineering team and leading the company.
